

"Crowdsourcing Week features the pioneers of crowdsourcing. Bringing together cutting edge crowdsourcing examples across industries makes it obvious that we've only begun to tap the surface when it comes to the potential of the crowd."

- Stephanie Grosser, Senior Advisor, Data Technology and Communications, USAID

"Crowdsourcing Week is a pioneering event that brings together the world's best talent in the 'crowd' world for important learning, collaborating and networking. An expertly curated forum, high on insight and low on fluff. A smart investment of time in meeting the movers, shakers and thinkers of an increasingly important segment of the digital world."

- Sean Moffitt, Founder, Wikibrands

"Crowdsourcing Week was one of the rare conferences in which I wanted to sit through each session, learn from each speaker, and meet each attendee. The conference brought together the world's most prominent crowdsourcing innovators, including marketers, changemakers and entrepreneurs, and the diversity in geography, background and focus was unique. I can't wait for the next Crowdsourcing Week."

- Gaurav Mishra, MSL Group

"Crowdsourcing Week is the premier global forum to uncover the value and potential of crowds and crowdsourcing. By catalyzing the best and brightest in the field, it points the way forward for crowdsourcing's future."

- Ross Dawson, Getting Results from Crowds

"Great team and inspiring event. Diverse range of expert speakers covering many areas - from non-profit to social good and equity raising. Even had time to debate / discuss the ethics and social impact of using crowds. Happy to have been a part of it!"
